

Mr. Bar,

I know very well that you are not an athletic coach, but I know most definitely that you are a musical coach. In the three short days that you have been here you have managed to change the way my orchestra class feels about music. If I have learned anything from you in the last three days (which I have!), I have learned that music is a tool to bring joy into people's lives. You have brought that to me by teaching me to take my musical abilities a step further. You're an awesome person! I appreciate your valuable time and kind patience.
